The American press of late has been devoting considerable space to the band of toughs known as "prize fighters." It seems to us that the devilish revels of the hippodrome prompt these brutes to batter each other. Thus the queen of misrule settles on the heads of America's men and guides them to greedily devour a sight of brutality with eyes that ought to be turned towards prosperity. The fiends bob up in penitence one day, then sell their very souls to the pool box the next. Let the American journals wipe them in the dust like the sneaking vampires most of them are.

The Water Suit.

Some days ago General R. M. Clarke sued out a writ of prohibition in the Supreme Court to prohibit Judge Bigelow from trying the water suits in and about the Truckee river.

Yesterday Gen. Clarke caused his suit in the Supreme Court to be dismissed.

On the same day T. D. Edwards as attorney, filed a petition in the Supreme Court praying the Court to prohibit Judge Rising from trying the suit relating to the waters of Carson river and its tributaries.

The object of this suit is to test the constitutionality of the water law. By testing this law a great expense may be saved to the 150 defendants, and it is claimed that such test should be made before the defendants be put to the expense, trouble and loss of time of trying the case in the District Court.

This hearing in the Supreme Court is set for the 25th day of August next. Eminent counsel will appear on both sides.

It is the most important suit and involves greater interest than any suit ever tried in our Courts.

THE MIKE DAVIS CASE.

It Assumes a Peculiar Aspect, as Mike Pleads Not Guilty.

The case of the State vs. Mike Davis et al was called in the Justice Court yesterday afternoon. District Attorney Torreyson appeared for the State. Davis failed to secure an attorney up to the time of the trial and asked for a postponement in order to secure legal advice. The State Attorney claimed that evidence could be procured that he, (Davis) had not made any effort to secure a lawyer, and the request was denied.

Tony Flint the prosecuting witness being called on the stand testified that on the morning of the 16th he had thrashed Mike Davis for making remarks about his restaurant, and that on the evening of the same day, while passing in front of Sweeney's saloon near Mike's boot-black stand, he was struck behind the ear with some blunt and heavy instrument, the blow knocking him senseless.

The testimony goes to show that the blow was administered by Davis, who took that means to revenge himself upon Flint.

George Burns, a colored man, testified that he saw Davis strike Flint, but several other parties standing near and who saw Flint after he had fallen, testified that they could not swear who struck him, although they saw Davis in a threatening attitude over the prostrate body of Flint, before they took him away.

When Mike took the stand he testified that he did not strike the prosecuting witness, and knew nothing of the affair until he saw the injured person lying on the side-walk. Mike seems to have placed himself in a peculiar position as it is the impression that he was the man who struck Flint, and in denying it perjures himself in the eyes of the law.

Justice Hawthorne took the case under advisement until 10 o'clock this morning.
